DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 9, “the self locking latch’s lobe” lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 1, line 10, “means to lock the invention” is indefinite in that it is not clear if the referred to means is part of the invention.

In claim 2, “a suitable material” and “such as” render the claim indefinite in that the metes and bounds of the claim can not be determined. What structure constitutes a suitable material?

In claim 3, “or other poled devices” is indefinite in that the metes and bounds of the claims can not be determined.

In claim 4, “a self locking latch” is indefinite in that the metes and bounds of the claim can not be determined.

In claim 5, "several inventions" is indefinite in that it is not clear what invention is being referred to, in the context of the claims. Also, "or other, devices" is indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cheng, US Patent 5,970,540. A self locking hinge comprising a first hinge 51 portion, a second hinge portion 60 and a self locking latch 70; where each hinge portion comprises a connecting portion containing lobes designed to provide a means to pivotally connect the two hinge portions together and a main body portion desired to connect the hinge portion to an object or objects to be hinged together; where said self locking latch is spring actuated at 74, pivotally attached to the first hinge portion and containing a lobe 72 designed to engage a recess 61 in the second hinge portion; where said engagement of the self locking latch's lobe in its engaged position, where said lobes of the hinge portions are off set from the center axis of their respective hinge portions thereby providing a means to allow the hinge portions to pivotally move in an 180-degree orientation with respect to each other from a disengaged position to an engaged position. The hinge portions and the self-locking latch are made from a suitable material. The device may be used with various types of poled devices, as claimed. Several of these devices may be used simultaneously when desired.

61 provides a means to lock the invention
